Quinta Serena del Sol | Las Cabras, San Miguel de AllendeQuinta Serena del Sol is a Spanish Colonial country estate set on approximately five acres in Las Cabras, with established gardens and broad views across the Presa Allende to the mountains. Originally designed by architect Luis Camarena, the residence is organized around two distinct outdoor spaces. A sheltered courtyard looks inward to a fountain and a tulip tree, while a covered terrace looks out over the water.A gated drive passes through a sculptural cactus garden, and a vine-covered pergola leads to the entrance. Inside, the living and dining room rises two stories beneath a vaulted, beamed ceiling, with a carved cantera fireplace at its center. Three pairs of hand-forged iron doors open the room to the courtyard and the lake-facing terrace, where a second fireplace warms the outdoor dining area.The kitchen has custom wood cabinetry, a granite island with seating, a gas cooktop, double ovens and a walk-in pantry. The adjoining breakfast nook looks...
