From Villa Chorro's Centro perch above historic San Miguel de Allende viewers absorb city-wide views—including the iconic Parroquia—stretching to Guanajuato, not only from the stunning roof terrace but from lower levels as well. This ideal location—tucked far away from Centro traffic—is on a closed Callejon accessed down a private gated cobblestone and tree-lined cul-de-sac seemingly from a Merchant & Ivory set, serving only three homes. This idyllic setting might be expected of a country home, but not for an estate in Centro walking distance to the Jardin. The main residence—see the grand entry flanked by magnificent
