Welcome to Casa Hikari, designed by renowned architect Javier Angel from Toniclab architecture. This four bedroom ensuite contemporary home is a piece of art. Located in the gated communities of El Paraiso, the palette of this home is white walls, wood stairs and white ceramic floors and black metal accents throughout, full of texture. There is a powder room as you enter in through the rock path surrounded by water. The home has a two car garage with water purification. On the roof there is a terrace with built in sofas and a gas fire pit. Give me a call to see this beautiful chic home.
