Located on the historical Camino Real, “the Royal Road”, the legendary route for the transportation of Spanish gold and silver from the rich mines of Guanajuato north to Zacatecas and south to the Gulf of Mexico, Rancho La Cantera is steeped in the rich history of the area. The ranch was originally part of a 16th-Century land grant when Spanish settlers were given 40 to 50 hectares within proximity to town to supply the settlers with food, wine and meat. The name La Cantera is from the stone used in many of the old buildings.
