In historic San Miguel de Allende, home values are heavily based upon the walking distance and sightline to the center of town and our iconic Parroquia church. Casa Noche Magica—so named because the entire city skyline and every church magically twinkle at night from every room on the primary living floor—offers both, being an 18-minute walk to the Jardin, our town square. Adjacent to multiple seven-figure homes, it also offers affordability! And the astounding design was by a Parsons School graduate, who happens to be the owner! Offering one-level living, Casa Noche Magica greets visitors with a charming fountain-anchored garden courtyard before passing through a welcoming foyer to arrive in the grand boveda-topped open-plan great room, anchored at one end by a massive hand-carved cantera fireplace, and the primary suite, all on one level. The astounding feature of Casa Noche Magica is that all rooms on the main level offer views of the entire city skyline, including the Parroquia—you'll even have a...
