Casa de la Vista offers a spectacular view across San Miguel de Allende, taking in the historic city's terracotta rooftops, church towers, historic façades, surrounding hills, and the activity of the city below. From the rooftop terrace, sunsets settle over San Miguel, fireworks rise above the rooftops, and parades and celebrations make their way through the streets. It is a view that places you at the heart of the city while giving you the privacy of your own home.The home was remodeled by architect Pedro Urquiza, a well-respected architect in San Miguel at the time. His thoughtful approach remains part of the character and flow of the house today.A charming entry courtyard, framed by a handcrafted cantera water feature, welcomes you into a warm and inviting home. On the main level, the living and dining rooms gather around a gas fireplace, creating an intimate setting for everyday living and entertaining. The bright kitchen offers abundant storage, generous counter space, and a breakfast bar, with natural light and a view...
