This ecovillage's stunning rural setting paired with its proximity to the cafes, restaurants, shops and services of San Miguel's new downtown— just a 20-minute drive to The Ancha— makes it a choice option for greenthumbs looking to build their dream home with a light and sustainable footprint in the country. The land measures 28 m by 28 m with frontage on the main road. It sits at the far frontier of the ecovillage's cluster and has unobstructed southern views of the reservoir and the rugged mountains of the altiplano beyond.To the east, it's an entirely different scene, the awesome rigged cliffs of Los Picachos Volcano (extinct!) rise up in dramatic fashion and embrace the land below.Come for the lot and the views. Stay for the community, food security and sustainability. Book a viewing today and get back to the land sooner than later.
